Turnpike Charges To Stand

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The state Superior Court today refused to quash indictments against 16 persons named in the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission scandal.

The appellate court action paved the way for early trial of a total of 23 persons cited by a Dauphin County grand jury in an investigation of commission affairs.

Among the 16 whose appeals were denied were suspended commission chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh, a Democrat; suspended Republican commissioner James F. Torrance, Export and Thomas G. Evans, former commission chairman and Coaldale Republican.

The majority opinion was written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes. Dissenting opinions were handed down by Judges Blair S. Gunther and G. Harold Watkins.

Two Suspended

McSorley was indicted for misconduct in office, for allegedly supplying a chauffeur to Evans after Evans left the agency.

Torrance, Evans and 20 others were indicted for criminal conspiracy in an alleged plot to swindle the commission of $19,500,000 through contracts for mine filling under the Northeastern Extension of the turnpike.

Gov. George M. Leader suspended McSorley, his own appointee, and Torrance from their turnpike jobs pending disposition of the charges.

The grand jury also cited Charles W. Stickler, Jr., president of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, which held the subsequently cancelled contracts; Clayton Landsidle, the firm's vice-president and general manager; officials of the Rogers Brothers Construction Co., Scranton; several employes of the Turnpike Commission, and two employes of the J. E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, former turnpike consulting engineers.

The court order was brief.

It merely said that "after argument on motion to quash...the motion is granted and the appeals... are quashed for the reason that the orders of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Dauphin County dismissing the defendants' petitions to quash indictments from which said appeals have been taken are interlocutory and, under the circumstances, are not appealable orders."

Fayette Judge Hits State Police Switch; Jaynes, Munz Move

Racket-busting Sgt. H. M. (Whitey) Jaynes was relieved of his command at the Pennsylvania State Police Barracks in Uniontown today in a transfer which drew sharp criticism from a Fayette County jurist.

President Judge W. Russell Carr described the transfer as a "tragedy" and hinted that racket elements may have somehow influenced the move.

Sergeant Jaynes was reassigned to Troop A Headquarters in Greensburg for "special duty." He will be succeeded at Uniontown by Sgt. W. C. Munz, former commanding officer at Belle Vernon who has recently been in charge at the Carnegie Barracks.

'Shocked by News'

Judge Carr, when asked for a statement on the transfer, said:

"I am very sorry. It is a tragedy and I was shocked by the news. Sergeant Jaynes is an honest upright officer."

Asked if he thought it possible the "rackets" could have had a hand in Jaynes' transfer in some underhanded way unbeknown to the heads of the Pennsylvania State Police, Judge Carr was quoted as saying:

"I am afraid that is true."

When contacted by the Daily Independent, Judge Carr refused to elaborate further on those strongly-worded statements.

Sergeant Jaynes is noted for his racket-busting exploits. It was he who led the raid on the notorious Getado Club in Monessen in 1948.

Is Third Change

His transfer is the third change at the Uniontown Barracks in recent months. Two of his best "racket" investigators — Cpl. Jasper Augustine and Pvt. Anthony Cywinski — were moved to other barracks.

Sergeant Jaynes assumed his duties today at Greensburg. He said his new assignment will consist of "whatever jobs my commanding officer gives me."

The veteran policeman learned of his transfer when handed new orders by an officer from the Washington headquarters.

Sergeant Jaynes said his were written orders from Lt. Col. A. F. Dahlstrom, deputy state police commissioner in Harrisburg.

For the past several months, there have been rumors of special investigation into Fayette County rackets.

On this subject, Judge Carr said he has already communicated with Pennsylvania Attorney General McBride in Harrisburg.

"I could call for a special investigation by the Attorney General," Judge Carr said, "but before making such a request it would be necessary for me to produce substantial evidence that the reported rackets were current. It is difficult to obtain such information."

Local Debaters Capture Trophy

The Monessen High School debating team, coached by Carolyn Sedey, won first prize and a trophy at a debating tourney held over the weekend at Taylor-Allerdice High School, Pittsburgh.

Karen Duda, Florine Komatz, Jean Buchar and William Lear made up the winning team.

Eighteen schools were in the tourney.

Three Weekend Motor Accidents In the District

Three weekend motor accidents caused an estimated $750 damage in the Monessen district over the weekend, State Police said today.

One accident occurred about 8 p. m. yesterday on Route 51 near Celapino's Restaurant and involved cars operated by Adam Mickey, 47, of Pittsburgh, and Earl S. Fulton, of Normalville. Damage to both cars was listed at $500.

Police are on the lookout for the hit-and-run driver whose car struck a vehicle driven by Norman Branch, 26, of 612 Chestnut street, Monessen, early yesterday morning on the Monessen-Webster road, Route 906.

Branch told police the unidentified car sideswiped his machine and failed to stop, causing about $150 damage.

In the third accident, Dominick Forlini, of Donora, was traveling east on the Monessen-Webster road Saturday when he collided with a machine operated by William Huweart, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon. About $85 damage resulted.

His dismissal as coach was announced by Robert VanBremen, supervising principal of the Bellmarette School District.

VanBremen said that applications for the position will be accepted immediately.

Flora has coached every Bellmar quint. He was assigned to the varsity job when the Bellmar jointure was organized six years ago.

Probers Can Use Tax Data

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower authorized the Senate Rackets Committee today to examine income and other tax returns of any individual it is investigating.

The authorization, covering returns since 1945, was granted by the President under regulations governing the inspection of returns by congressional committees.

The White House said the authorization was requested by the special Senate committee investigating alleged links between the Teamsters Union, racketeers and politicians in Portland, Ore.

The authorization covers inspection of income, excess profits, estate, gift, and capital stock returns.

"Any information obtained by the committee is confidential," White House said, "but the committee may report information pertinent to its investigation to the Senate."

Gives No Reason

The special committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) has not disclosed why it wants to use the tax information. But, among other things, it is investigating the personal finances of Teamsters President Dave Beck and other union officials and likely wants to go into their income tax returns.

Meanwhile, the Senate investigators indicated that they have much more information about Beck's "loans" from Teamsters funds than Beck disclosed on television.

Beck, president of the 1.5 million member Teamsters Union, said on a TV program (CBS "Face The Nation") Sunday he borrowed $300,000 to $400,000 from the Teamsters' Western Conference over the past 10 years without paying interest.

The fast-talking chief of the nation's biggest union declared he had paid all the money back and added loudly, "I have done nothing wrong."

Beck also said "I am not going to turn my back" on Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa "until he has his day in court." Hoffa, "heir apparent" to Beck until his arrest by the FBI last week, has been charged with brib-

Bridge Freeing Expected to Be Held on May 15

Pennsylvania's 10 remaining intrastate toll bridges — including the Charleroi-Monessen span — will probably be freed on May 15.

That's the date the State Highways Department has set for freeing the bridges, which were purchased from private companies through an $8,500,000 bond issue in 1949.

A bill recently approved by the state assembly would free the bridges on May 30. Gov. George M. Leader was expected to veto that legislation in view of the administration plan to lift tolls 15 days earlier.

The expected veto would be against the bill of Rep. Adam T. Bower (R-Northumberland) who said he was advised the legislation was necessary. His measure would authorize the state Highways Department to sell as surplus property the toll houses and other real estate not needed for operation as free spans.

But an administration source said the Bower bill does not list real estate specifically, as required by law.

The bridges involved are Clarks Ferry, Duncannon; Market St., Harrisburg; Eighth St., Allentown; Ellwood City-Koppel; Sunbury; Charleroi-Monessen; Minsi Trail, Bethlehem; New St., Bethlehem; Point Marion and the Walnut St. Bridge, Harrisburg.

Kenneth Hart and Birthday Cards

Fayette City Man Likes to Send Cards

Sending birthday greetings to Fayette City residents is the hobby of a 75-year-old retired insurance agent, Kenneth Hart, of Connellsville street in Fayette City.

Just about everyone of the 1,400 persons living in the community has received a birthday card from Hart at one time or another. It's a rarity when he "misses up" on someone's birthday, his wife said.

Hart said he has been sending birthday greetings since 1919. He estimated that he has sent close to 75,000 cards over the 38-year period.

He is just not on the sending end, however. Take last Friday, for instance, when he was observing his 75th birthday. More than 400 persons in the community remembered his anniversary and sent greetings.

'Makes People Happy'

Hart said sending cards is a "good way to make people happy and also gives me something to do."

He has been retired since 1933 when he suffered an arthritic condition. He is on disability pension.

Hart and his wife of 45 years live in a modest home in Fayette City. They have no children.

Hart said the cards he sends to people have been given to him from people who stop off at his home after vacations and "drop packets and packets of travel cards in my lap."

Some people, he said, are interested in his hobby and "every once in a while, they give me money to buy stamps."

He said he will continue to send out birthday greetings just as long as the card and stamp supplies hold out.

Hit-run Auto Accident Here On Saturday

Lawrence Lespilette, of 519 Ninth street, Monessen, told police a hit-and-run driver struck his car while it was parked near Braddock avenue and Ninth street on Saturday.

Upon investigation, police discovered that the hit-and-run car belonged to William Jones, of Pricedale, but was stolen while it was parked at Ninth street and Schoonmaker avenue and the owner was at work at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

In another weekend accident, cars operated by James Palanza, of 417 Rostraver street, and Michael Lukach, of 1208 Knox avenue, were involved in a minor mishap near Sixth street and Schoonmaker avenue.

Field Fire at Rostraver Farm

More than 50 acres were charred by fire on the Frank Simon farm in Rostraver Township yesterday afternoon.

Firemen from Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon and Rostraver Township, fought the blaze, which for a time threatened to get out of control.

K of C Building Broken into

Burglars broke into the Knights of Columbus headquarters at 800 Schoonmaker avenue Saturday evening, knocked over two gas stoves and caused a minor fire. Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said today.

He said the fire was confined to a section near the stage.

Mrs. Clara Katsuleris, of 806 Schoonmaker avenue, reported the fire in time, thereby preventing more serious damage.

Kuvinka said entrance was gained through a window on the west side of the building. Once inside, the burglars ransacked three cabinets. Nothing was reported missing, however.

He Went to Mama

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Linda C. Wenland, 21, an actress-model, was granted a divorce when she told the judge that her estranged husband, Steward S. Bernstein, 21, "went home to mother" on their wedding night.

Magsaysay, 25 Others, Killed In Plane Crash

MANILA (UP) — Carlos P. Garcia took the oath of office as president of the Philippines tonight, succeeding President Ramon Magsaysay whose charred body was found today in the smouldering wreckage of his private plane.

Reports of an explosion before the crash of the plane carrying Magsaysay and 25 other persons led government officials to fear the C47 transport carrying the anti-Communist leader might have been sabotaged.

Garcia, the vice president and foreign minister under Magsaysay, rushed here from Australia where he had attended a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. He went to the Malacanang Palace tonight for the ceremony after visiting Magsaysay's weeping widow.

Today the body of the president was brought down from the jungle-covered mountains of Cebu to Cebu City where 10,000 bareheaded Filipinos stood silently under a blazing sun. Many were in tears.

Two American Marine helicopters brought down the charred bodies of the victims of Sunday's plane crash. There was only one survivor, a Manila newspaperman, Nestor Mata, a reporter for the Philippines Herald.

A Logical Target

It was his report of an explosion before the crash that sent special investigators to the scene. Magsaysay, a leading anti-Communist in Asia who was able to stamp out the Red-tinted Huk rebels, would have been a logical target for assassination.

Garcia became president by law the moment Magsaysay's death was announced by the Malacanang (presidential) Palace, but he could have refused to take the oath of office.

He said before leaving Australia no new election will be held until the regular one scheduled for November.

Magsaysay's death dealt a serious blow to American policy plans in The Philippines, and political observers predicted a long period of political unrest. He had come to power with strong American backing, and American officials were deeply shocked.

Messages of condolence poured in from throughout the world. President Eisenhower said the anti-Communist leader "will be greatley missed." Magsaysay had planned to visit Mr. Eisenhower this spring.

Dozens of Philippine and American planes and ships began combing the island nation by air and sea early Sunday when the plane failed to arrive in Manila after Magsaysay delivered a round of college commencement speeches in Cebu City.

John Harhai to Buck Machine For City Council

Third Ward Alderman John Harhai today announced his candidacy for City Councilman on the Democratic ticket in the May 21 primary. He will run as an independent Democrat, he stated.

He said he will look to the "individual personally for help in my campaign."

Harhai has been a resident of Monessen all his life and is a graduate of Monessen High School. He is also a graduate of California State Teachers College and the University of Pittsburgh. He holds a bachelor of science degree from the former school and a master's degree from the latter. He has also attended criminal and civil law schools.

He holds a first aid instructor's certificate in the Red Cross and is also associated with the organization's aquatic schools.

From 1935 to 1941 he worked intermittently at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. He was employed by Monessen Southwestern Railroad in 1953.

Harhai is married to the former Dolores Walker, of Charleroi and Belle Vernon. The couple has four sons and a daughter. The family resides at 661 McKee avenue.

No GOP Candidates Here; Filing Deadline

Today is the final day to file nomination petitions for the May 21 primary election in Westmoreland County.

A steady trek of hopeful candidates from Monessen and other parts of the County was reported at the courthouse in Greensburg this morning.

Reports from Greensburg said not one Republican candidate from Monessen had filed nominating petitions as of noon today, indicating there is little chance for any Republicans running for local offices this year.

A check at the Greensburg courthouse over the weekend revealed the following Democratic candidates have already filed petitions for offices in Monessen:

Mayor: Incumbent Hugo J. Parente.

Council: Incumbents John Molnar and David Victoria, and John Harhai.

Treasurer: Incumbent John Spielman and Dr. G. L. Trilli.

Controller: Incumbent James Tucci and Kenneth McNaughton.

School Director: Michael Stima and Anthony Todaro.

John Stieska and Stephen Sinchak, both of whom have announced their candidacies for Mayor, were expected to file nomination petitions before the 4 p. m. deadline.

Others who have made public their intentions to run for office in Monessen are also expected to file before the courthouse closes.

Next Monday is the last day for candidates who have filed petitions to withdraw and is also the last day to file objections to petitions.

Golda Meir Talks to Dulles

Wants American Help to Keep Egypt from Attacking Israel

WASHINGTON (UP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir puts before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today her country's plea for storing American action to keep Egypt from renewing attacks on Israeli territory and shipping.

Both arrived here Sunday — Dulles from Australia and Mrs. Meir from Jerusalem via Paris. A conference between the two was expected to be arranged early today.

Dulles entered the meeting under bipartisan notice from the Senate's leadership that Egypt must be dealt with firmly.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) said during the week end that the United States may lose the confidence of the world if "we acquiesce" in Egyptian actions which "go beyond the bounds of reason."

U.S. Policies Investigated

Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif) said Egypt would be "well advised not to push its luck too far" in the Gaza Strip. Knowland said the United Nations should maintain a "military cordon" between Israel and Egypt.

The United Nations appeared to be taking steps to set up just such a "cordon." A Norwegian-Danish battalion stationed in the northern sector of the Gaza Strip announced it was beginning a gradual movement to positions on the Egyptian - Israeli truce demarcation line in 48 hours.

Another spotlight was focussed on the overall Mideast situation today when two Senate committees opened a "full-scale" investigation of U.S. Middle East policies. The first witness was C. D. Jackson, former psychological warfare adviser to President Eisenhower.

Dulles Meets Advisors

Dulles, returning from a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference in Canberra, Australia, went directly into a huddle with his top advisers on latest developments in the Middle East. Almost simultaneously Mrs. Meir arrived at Washington National Airport for the session with Dulles.

Mrs. Meir told newsmen she wants to find out what steps the United States will take to assure Israel's security. She was expected to press Israel's demand for U.S. assurances that the disputed Gaza Strip will be restored to full United Nations control and that Israeli ships will have access to the Gulf of Aqaba and Suez Canal.

It was on the basis of these "assumptions" that Israel pulled her forces out of Egypt.

Israel Will Fight

An Israeli source said bluntly this week end that Israel will fight if she feels her rights in these areas are not being guaranteed.

American officials were cool toward Mrs. Meir's rush visit here. Some said there is nothing Dulles can tell her that he hasn't already made clear in previous face-to-face meetings.

However, officials declined, at Sunday night's conference at Dulles' home, to go so far as to say the United States cannot or will not take some new step to make sure hostilities do not flare anew between Egypt and Israel.

Some administration circles were thinking of possibly recalling the UN General Assembly to consider increasing tension between Israel and Egypt. However, no such action is currently planned unless hostilities appear imminent

In a Big Way

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)— Gov. Harold Handley blamed a $32 million tax error in his state budget on his Irish ancestry. Handley told a meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians Sunday his great - great grandfather came from the Auld Sod, and "when I do something, like all Irishmen, I DO IT BIG."

One Dead, One Hurt in Area Plane Crash

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A Navy man was killed and another was injured seriously Sunday night when a two-engine Navy plane ran out of fuel and crashed into a grove of trees at an abandoned strip mine.

Lt. Cmdr. James Sanford, 38, Des Moines, Iowa, was killed. His pilot, Petty Officer Charles Hart, Lincoln, Neb., was hospitalized here with severe head injuries.

The Beechcraft plane was less than a mile from the Allegheny County Airport when it crashed at the deserted mine on a farm 12 miles southeast of here.

Hart struggled down a steep hillside to the home of Ray McKee, operator of the farm, who summoned help.

(The Rev. Charles W. Ribick, pastor of St. Edward Roman Catholic Church in Fayette City, was in the vicinity at the time of the crash and administered last rites to Lt. Comdr. Sanford.)

The plane was enroute here from the Naval Air Station at Lincoln, Neb., and was receiving instruction for landing from the control tower at Greater Pittsburgh Airport when it crashed. The plane had informed the airport it was running out of fuel.

Board Wants to Abolish State Treasurer's Post

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader's Commission on Governmental Reorganization today recommended abolition of the elective offices of state treasurer and secretary of internal affairs.

The commission suggested passage of a constitutional amendment to eliminate the independent office of state treasurer and merge its functions and those of the state Revenue Department in a Department of the Treasury, under the governor.

"The typical state treasurer, because he is popularly elected, feels that he must introduce checks and audits, which are properly the work of the auditor general," the commission said. "The commission recognizes that there must be a strong officer, independent of the governor, to act as a watch-dog on expenditures. One such strong officer is enough, however."

The commission said the work of the Internal Affairs Department could have been strengthened through the years if it had been under the direction of the governor.

ing his way into the secret files of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

A federal grand jury here has been investigating the charge. It is expected to act today or Tuesday on the government's demand for an indictment of Hoffa and Hyman I. Fischbach, Miami, Fla., attorney jointly charged with Hoffa.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the rackets committee, declined to say whether the committee knows specifically about Beck's $300,000 to $400,000. But he said the committee has examined Teamsters records and knows "quite a bit about all his transactions with the union."

Hearings Resume Tuesday

Kennedy said the picture was "far more complicated" than Beck revealed on the TV program. He said Beck's financial dealings were "more broad than loans" but declined to elaborate.

Kennedy also hit as "ridiculous" Beck's claim that he has tried in vain to get the committee to set a date for his appearance. The counsel noted the group sent Beck two telegrams last week trying to arrange for delivery of Beck's financial records and added:

"He's the one that's delaying, not the committee."

The committee hearings are scheduled to resume Tuesday with Frank W. Brewster, head of the Teamsters' Western Conference, recalled to the stand

Leader Urges Free Turnpike

GOP Wants Investigation into Handling of Road Building

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state's highway program may share the legislative spotlight with taxes this week, with Gov. George M. Leader proposing a program for freeing the Pennsylvania Turnpike system of tolls and Republicans threatening an investigation of administration handling of road building.

The all-Republican House Rules Committee prepared to act on a party resolution calling for a 14-member committee to investigate the state Highways Department and its federal-aid program.

In a weekend statement, Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom also indicated the GOP may move to take control of the road building programs from the administration and put it in the hands of a separate commission.

Bloom said GOP leaders were giving "serious consideration" to creation of a Highway Planning Commission "to rescue our highway system from the bungling of the Leader administration."

He said the idea was to take the planning of new multi-million dollar highways "permanently out of politics."

The governor, in a message prepared for delivery to the lawmakers late today, recommended creation of a non-salaried Turnpike Board, dedicated to its own abolition through a goal of lifting the tolls on the 400-mile superhighway at the earliest possible moment.

No New Toll Roads

He also suggested knocking out through legislative action laws authorizing future toll road extensions.

On the fiscal front, Senate Republican leaders attempted to set a new timetable for passage this week of the $995-million General Fund tax package.

A rash of proposed amendments, however, may again delay that goal. Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said over the weekend his own party colleagues may come up with proposed revisions to the 3 per cent sales tax. Senate Democrats have already served notice they want to eliminate some exemptions to industry.

Along those lines, three Pennsylvania labor leaders called for defeat of the Republican-sponsored amendments to the sales levy, on the ground they "discriminate heavily in favor of particular segments of our economy—the manufacturer, the utility and the shipbuilder."

The Senate will reconvene at 4 p.m. today and the House a half hour later.

Brakeless Car Kills Three

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—A car traveling about 70 miles per hour despite having "no brakes whatsoever" swerved from a highway south of here Sunday night and struck and killed a young couple and their infant son.

The dead were Tommy David Ashley, 22, a packing house laborer, his wife Jane, 18, and their 10-month-old son David.

State highway patrolmen within 15 minutes after the incident captured Eddie Floyd Brewer, 27-year-old farm laborer listed as driver of the car, and his companion, William H. Mason, 28, who had fled the scene together on foot.

They were held on manslaughter charges. Both men had been drinking, patrolmen said.

Missing Scouts Found Safe, but Shivering Cold

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (UP) — Three Boy Scouts, missing since late Sunday in the picturesque Great Smoky Mountains, were found safe but shivering cold today.

Rangers of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park found the boys huddled beneath a shed outside a small lodge atop towering Mt. Leconte, one of the nation's most picturesque natural sights.

Victor Thorne, 13; Jimmy Grubbs, 12, and Mike Harmon, 11, members of Greenville, Tenn. Scout Troop 94, wandered off the Appalachian Trail Sunday while hiking with fellow scouts. An all-night search failed to turn them up and by dawn a force of 75 men, using walkie-talkie radio, was scouring the fog-shrouded peaks.

Chief Ranger C. E. Johnson announced at 7:45 a.m. that the boys were found atop Mt. Leconte on the Tennessee side of the Smokies. The boys had followed a trail up the mountain and apparently too weary to move a step further, collapsed and went to sleep outside a small lodge which had been constructed for travelers on the mountain top.

Johnson said the boys apparently could have gone into the lodge to escape the weather, which went into the twenties during the night. They must have been just too tired.

The boys, joined by overjoyed parents, were taken home to Greeneville for food and rest.

Nixon Calls on U. S. Italian Cooperation

ROME (UP)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon promised today there will be "increasing consultation" between the United States and Italy on critical world problems.

Nixon made the statement at a news conference where he renewed his warning that the only colonialism currently threatening the world is "Communist colonialism."

Nixon, who leaves this afternoon for Tunis and the last leg of his trip through newly independent African nations, wound up his visit here by inspecting an "open skies" exhibit.

Nixon left Rome this afternoon for Tunis, the last stop on his 21-day tour of central and northern Africa.

Italian Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat, who bade Nixon official farewell, said the vice president's visit helped cement the already-close ties binding the United States and Italy.

Sunday Nixon was received in private audience by Pope Pius XII, who expressed praise for the goodwill of President Eisenhower and the American people and prayed to God to give the President "health and comfort in the arduous duties of his office and his unremitting labors in the cause of world peace."

Nixon was alone with the Pope for 25 minutes during which he delivered a letter from the President.

President Eisenhower praised the Pope's "labors in the interest of world concord."

The message voiced hope that the Pope's work will be "a source of inspiration to the new nations and peoples" of Africa which Nixon is visiting.

Fights to Keep His 'Daughter'

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—A Jewish couple battling to keep their Catholic-born adopted daughter planned to seek the Florida governor's aid today in "a last stand" against Massachusetts authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bentley Ellis have dodged authorities and process servers in seven cities and six states since the Massachusetts Supreme Court ordered them in 1955 to return six-year-old Hildy McCoy Ellis to her natural mother.

"We are not running anymore," Ellis told the United Press. "This is a last stand — a final battleground for Hildy's life and her future."

Technical Kidnap Charge

The Ellis' attorney, Ben Cohen, said he would telephone Gov. Leroy Collins this morning to request a personal hearing on an extradition warrant being prepared by Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo that would order the couple returned to Boston to face a technical charge of kidnapping Hildy.

The Ellises were to appear before Peace Justice Mal Englander this afternoon to post bond on a fugitive warrant served on them Saturday by a Massachusetts detective.

Blonde, blue-eyed Hildy was born out of wedlock in Boston in 1951. Ten days later, her mother, Marjorie McCoy, a Roman Catholic, signed papers permitting the Ellises, who were unable to have children, to adopt the infant.

A 'Fanatic' Father

When Hildy's mother learned the Ellises were Jewish she began legal proceedings to have the child taken from them and put into a Catholic orphanage for adoption by a Catholic family.

The McCoy woman has since married and has two other children. Ellis said she has expressed no desire to take custody of Hildy herself.

"We do not want this sword hanging over us if Hildy is not actually belonging to us," he said. "We want to feel that she belongs to us and that we belong to Hildy.

"She's my little girl. I'm the one that got up at two in the morning to feed her and change her diapers. My wife did, too, but I guess I'm a fanatic father. You know how that is.

"She calls us 'Mummy' and 'Daddy' and she's our little girl."

'Real Bundle' Turned Out to Be Some $18,000

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Michael Lubowski, who can't remember what he did with $6,000 of $25,000 taken from the home of an automobile dealer, will face questioning by state troopers and Burgettstown police today.

The 28 - year - old unemployed packing house worker was arrested on a charge of intoxication Friday night after he flashed a pack of bills in several North Side bars and bragged "I got a real bundle in my car."

A bar patron called police after Lubowski showed him $18,707 stashed under the front seat of the automobile.

Questioned by police, Lubowski maintained at first he saved the money "because I don't believe in banks." Then he switched his story and said he won the money in a dice game.

After 12 hours of questioning, Lubowski admitted the money was taken from the cellar of the home of Vincent Yukevich, a Burgtttstown automobile dealer who sold him a car a few weeks ago.

Lubowski said he learned of the money from his wife whose sister is married to one of Yukevich's sons. He said he passed this information to a friend called "Skippy" who stole the money and gave it to him.

Lubowski also told police he paid $800 to Charles Weichel, 41, of Pittsburgh, for driving him to Detroit and back last week.

Martin Claims Congress Should Start Cutting Its Own Expenditures

WASHINGTON (UP) — House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. suggested today that Congress needn't look any further than its own doorstep to begin cutting government spending.

Martin said he believed lawmakers ought to give up plans for construction of a $42 million new front for the U.S. Capitol.

"Since we are asking everybody else to tighten their belts in an effort to hold down government spending, I think we ought to set a good example by curtailing some of our own projects," he said.

Martin, a member of commission in charge of the project, noted that it has been put off several times, and objections still are being raised to it.

He also said the mounting congressional economy drive may jeopardize construction of a third house office building, on which work already has begun.

Other congressional news:

Civil Rights: Southerners planned a last-ditch fight in the House Judiciary Committee to further water down President Eisenhower's Civil Rights bill. The committee has a firm agreement from both backers and opponents to complete action on the bill today.

Foreign Policy: The much-heralded Senate investigation into U.S. Middle East policy opened today. The committee summoned Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, Assistant Secretary William M. Rountree and other State Department officials to testify.

Housing: Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) introduced a bill designed to provide home buyers with government-insured mortgages up to $10,000 at four per cent interest. Sparkman is chairman of a Senate Banking subcommittee which opened hearings on the housing situation.

Budget: A House drive to slash President Eisenhower's $38 billion defense budget picked up the support of Reps. Paul J. Kilday (D-Tex) and F. Edward Herbert (D-La). Both agreed that defense spending can be whittled down without endangering national security. Chairman Clarence Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee has said his committee expected to slice $3.5 billion off the defense budget.

Furnace Firm To Move Site

Rudy Benedetti and William Vagli, co-owners of the Dependable Furnace Co., of Monessen, today announced the firm will move from its present location at 336 Donner avenue to a new and larger building at 57 East Donner avenue early next month.

The owners said the increase in business has demanded larger quarters. The new location will cover some 3,900 square feet.

The firm, which employes 11 persons, has been at its present location the past 14 years. It deals in heating and air-conditioning equipment and appliances.

Pleasant weather attracted Pennsylvania motorists to the highways in large numbers during the weekend.

Although driving conditions were fine, at least 14 persons were killed on state roads during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to Sunday midnight.

State police blamed speeding for a number of the accidents.

The fatalities:

Pittsburgh: Mrs. Anna Osche, 59, Butler RD 2, died in Allegheny General Hospital a few hours after an auto driven by her son collided with a car operated by Police Chief Norman W. Blackstone of nearby Hampton Twp. Blackstone was taken to the hospital with an elbow fracture and other injuries. Punxsutawney: William Dale D. McCulough, also of Rossiter, told state police the boy darted in front of his auto.

Shamokin: Michael Troyan, 3, of nearby Keiser, was killed by an automobile Saturday night. State police identified the driver as John A. Augustine, of Bloomsburg.

Montrose: Two servicemen on leave were killed Saturday when their automobile crashed into a grove of trees off Route 267 near this Susquehanna County community. The victims were George J. Parmalee, 20, of nearby Birchardville, believed to have been the driver, and Michael J. O'Dwyer, about 20, of San Francisco.

Abington: Mrs. Ann Devlin Wallace, 33, Philadelphia, was killed Saturday when an auto in which she was riding sideswiped another car halted at a traffic light on York Road, upset, righted itself and then rolled backwards into an automobile showroom. The driver of the car in which she was riding, John Belmonte, 24, also Philadelphia, escaped serious injury. Six new automobiles in the showroom were damaged.

Chambersburg: Robert Harmon, 31, Chambersburg RD 5, was injured fatally when struck by an auto on Route 11 Friday night. Police identified the driver as Charles Musselman, 25, also Chambersburg.

The Great Need for Civic Attractiveness

CIVIC leaders all over America, in smaller cities as well as in larger ones, are re-discovering a fact of urban life that was almost forgotten both in times of depression and in times of feverish expansion and production. And this is the basic importance of making their communities pleasant places in which to live.

Some sections of the country, of course, have never lost sight of this. In fact, for many, their attractiveness for their residents as well as their visitors is their No. 1 asset.

But in industrial areas, and particularly it seems where steel has been the principal item of manufacture, the value of civic attractiveness has not been adequately understood. Jobs, payrolls, tonnage, profits — these have had priority. And those of us who have suggested from time to time over the years that, with proper planning and cooperation, a steel town could be made an attractive as well as a prosperous place in which to live — we have been tolerated as dreamers, harmless but impractical, or as crackpots who aren't properly grateful for the privilege of breathing the smoke which has been popularly supposed to be synonymous with jobs and payrolls.

* * *

THERE ARE signs of late, however, that community attractiveness is being upgraded on the scale of civic values, even in some heavy-industry localities. To an important extent this reconsideration is a byproduct of the intense competition among states and communities in the business of industrial development. A town or a district is not in this business very long before it discovers that industrialists who are making decisions about new plants are interested in something besides the purely economic factors, such as transportation, fuel, power, taxes and the like.

Just the other day, Gwilym A. Price, chairman and president of Westinghouse, was discussing this subject before an industrial conference at Orlando, Fla. And he was saying that his company, after it has considered all the tangible, physical factors of a proposed new plant site, asks "two final $64,000 questions" about it:

1. "Is the community a pleasing place in which to live, work and bring up children?"

2. "Does the community genuinely desire Westinghouse as an industrial neighbor?"

Mr. Price inferred in the course of his talk that if the community failed to answer either of these questions affirmatively, it would lose the proposed plant, no matter how strong a case it could make on economic grounds.

And this idea, of course, was not invented by Mr. Price and his company. It is, as a matter of fact, established doctrine with most progressive manufacturers.

* * *

IF THESE people are right about the essentiality of community attractiveness for new industry, it surely follows that community attractiveness is essential for existing industry.

That is why this newspaper has been contending, as forcefully as it knows how, that both this city and this district should give urgent attention to the need for overall civic improvement.

It is why we have urged municipal officials to go in for long-range planning and redevelopment. And it is also why we have pleaded with those who make the decisions for our major industrial concerns to quit performing their civic duties by proxy and more or less perfunctorily through the lower echelons of management and to throw themselves personally into the efforts, as important to them as to anyone else, to make these communities more pleasant places in which to live.

These ideas, we are pleased to note, have been taking some hold. At least the City officials of Monessen have, in the last year or so, taken significant strides in the right directions with every indication of general public approval.

It is a challenging adventure, all the more so because of the difficulties to be overcome. And the notion that a steel town is per se a grim and forbidding place in which to live is likely to die a hard death.

But this paper is more than ever convinced that this is a myth which will expire when the community musters the will and the energy to improve itself. Monessen, we have reason to hope, can do it — and will do it.

Health First

THE AMERICAN people, together with their friends everywhere in the world, are hoping that President Eisenhower has found the right "medicine" for his stubborn cold on his slow voyage to Bermuda.

The public is naturally sensitive on the subject of Mr. Eisenhower's health even when there is assurance that his difficulties are not serious. This is partly because of his medical history but even more because of his importance in the affairs of a troubled world.

It is the general hope that the President will give his health first priority in planning his activities.

Merry-Go-Round—

GOP 'Brass' Played Ball With Hoffa

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There is one man who's laughing up his sleeve at the midnight arrest of teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa for allegedly trying to bribe an agent of the Senate Rackets Committee. He is cantankerous Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan, who started a probe of Hoffa and the Teamsters three years ago, but was abruptly and unceremoniously stopped by none other than a member of the Eisenhower cabinet, Postmaster General Summerfield.

Mr. Pearson

Congressmen Hoffman, Republican, together with Wint Smith of Kansas, Republican, and Phil M. Landrum of Georgia, Democrat, were investigating the Teamsters, when suddenly word came from the White House via GOP House Leader Charley Halleck of Indiana to call off the probe.

Hoffman was so irked that he made a speech on the House floor complaining that his subcommittee on Labor Racketeering and Welfare Funds "had but barely entered upon its investigation when apparently for political reasons it was liquidated." Rep. Smith also complained to newsmen. After the hearing on Detroit labor racketeering closed, Smith stated that it was being terminated because of "pressure."

"Where does the pressure come from?" Smith was asked.

"From so high," Smith told newsmen, looking at the ceiling, "that I can't even discuss it."

Deal with Teamsters

Inside fact, as revealed by this column April 13, 1954, was that high Republicans in Michigan, led by Postmaster General Summerfield, made a deal with the Teamsters to support Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election. In return, investigation of Hoffa and the Teamsters was dropped.

Ferguson in 1954 faced a tough re-election battle with the late ex-Sen. Blair Moody, Democrat, running against him. Moody died in the middle of the primary campaign, and Pat McNamara, a long-time member of the Detroit City Council and a strong AFL leader, was nominated. In the final election, McNamara, to the surprise of everyone, defeated Ferguson.

Hoffman's probe of the Teamsters had just begun to strike pay dirt when "those on high" intervened. He was looking into alleged Teamster pressure on jukebox employers to make union payoffs to Teamster locals; also pressure on automatic car-wash employers to make payoffs; also into property acquired by Hoffa's wife and Mrs. Bert Brennon, wife of another teamster chief, after Hoffman and Brennon had settled a strike in Flint, Mich.

Partly as a result of the probe, a Wayne County grand jury indicted 12 leading Teamsters including William F. Buffalino, head of the jukebox local, Mike Nicoletti, head of Local 247 in Detroit, and David J. Keating, head of Local 614 in Pontiac.

Art of Wirepulling

It's interesting to watch the pattern of lobbying by smart big business in Washington. The boys really-on-the-know touch every base, leaving nothing uncovered.

Take, for instance, the Penn-Texas Corporation headed by likable, shrewd Leopold Silberstein, the refugee from Hitler who has built up one of the bigger holding companies in the USA. He is now under Securities and Exchange Commission investigation as an outgrowth of his battle to take over Fairbanks, Morse, owned by one of the old American industrial families.

To win his battle, Silberstein has lined up the following gilt-edged assortment of lawyers, wirepullers, directors, lobbyists, and public relations men:

Carl McCardle, ex-Assistant Secretary of State. His job is to keep the State Department base covered.

Gen Julius Klein, astute operator for the Pan American Airways lobby. His job is to contact various wirepullers.

H Struve Hensel, ex-counsel of the Defense Department. His job is to cover the base at the Pentagon.

Maj. Gen "Buck" Lanham, an official of the Penn-Texas Corporation, former hard-working aide to Ike. His job is to cover the base at the White House.

Oscar Chapman, able ex-Secretary of the Interior, now an official of the Penn-Texas Corporation. His job is to cover all bases with liberal senators.

Ex-Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine. He covers conservative GOP senators on Capitol Hill, including Senator Bridges of New Hampshire. Bridges recently made a speech which had the effect of serving notice on the SEC not to go too deeply with the Penn-Texas probe.

Ben Javits, brother of New York Sen. Jack Javits. He touches base with New York Republicans in the Senate and elsewhere.

Milton Wiseman, law partner of Democratic Congressman Mannie Celler. He touches base with New York Democrats.

John Bailey, Democratic national committeeman from Connecticut. He covers other Democratic bases.

Jake Arvey, Democratic leader of Chicago. He touches base with Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, one of the few senators who could understand the amazing financial web spun by Silberstein.

Note — Genial Sam Pryor, vice president of Pan American Airways, has also been doing voluntary, unpaid wirepulling on Capitol Hill for Silberstein.

Why U. S. Aid for Poland?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Question — "In a recent column you stated that there were two conditions Moscow will require Poland to meet to escape being brought back under the iron hand of Soviet rule: (1) It must maintain the 'Communist system'; (2) It must respect the Warsaw Pact permitting Red Army forces in Poland. Under these circumstances how can it be in America's interest to give the Polish government economic aid?"

Mr. Drummond

Answer — The objective of the U. S. Government is not merely "containment," not just holding the line against the expansion of Soviet rule. The objective is liberation of those satellite peoples who have the will to freedom.

Let's be frank with ourselves about this policy of "liberation." We are not going to provoke World War III by sending American arms or troops to help a satellite throw off its Soviet rulers. The U. S. neither abetted the Polish or Hungarian revolutions nor promised military aid.

There are peaceful methods of helping liberation. Economic aid is one of these methods. Any kind of aid to liberation involves risk. economic aid involves risk. The risk is that it may do no good at all. The risk is that it might encourage the Polish revolutionaries slightly and strengthen the Polish economy slightly -- and in the end Moscow may massively roll over the Polish government and no good has been accomplished.

Poland Likes Freedom

But there are powerful anti-Soviet, pro-freedom forces loose in Poland today. If these forces can be nourished and sustained, it is wholly possible that they will carry the largest, the most formidable semi-satellite into the zone of full scale independence

There is as much independence and more personal freedom in Poland today than in the completely non-Soviet Communist state of Yugoslavia.

The strength of the new un-Soviet Polish regime rests upon the remarkable alliance between two Polish patriots who were both imprisoned by the Stalinists. They are Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka and Stefan Wyszynski, Poland's Roman Catholic primate.

How can they work together? They can work together because Premier Gomulka is a non-doctrinaire, anti-Stalinist Socialist who wants independence for his nation at all costs and because Cardinal Wyszynski is an anti-Communist, anti-Soviet leader who believes that with more self-control, more patience than the Hungarians used, his nation can win total freedom from both Communism and the Soviet Union.

All Poland, its youth pre-eminently, is breathing more freely again. Its government is no longer jamming Western news broadcasts. Students, thirsting for fact and famished for freedom, are turning on Radio Free Europe at will. Censorship has not entirely ceased but its main purpose appears to be to reduce provocative attacks on the Soviet Union As one Polish editor put it: "We cannot yet print the whole truth, but we no longer print lies." Foreign newspapers and books are publicly on sale and are available in state libraries.

Walking Tightrope

In his article in the Saturday Evening Post Richard C. Hottelet put Poland's dilemma vividly and accurately.

"Gomulka and his Poland are walking a tightrope," he wrote. "If the government provokes the Kremlin it risks Soviet intervention. If it bows to Russian pressure it may be swept, away by a furious population . . . he must raise the standard of living in a country which Communism has brought to the brink of ruin."

Premier Gomulka is not wedded to doctrinaire Communism. In view of the fact that he has dissolved about 7,500 of the 10,000 collective farms in Poland, it is clear that he is not wedded to Communism.

Gomulka will never proclaim that he is abandoning the "Communist state", but unless he puts human liberty ahead of Communism, he may quickly be swept from office by his own people. Poland is moving appreciably away from being a "Communist state" because the Polish people demand it. Economic aid is designed to nourish that demand — and let the Kremlin decide what it wants to do about it Poland is not asking for gifts, it is asking for a substantial loan The Eisenhower administration favors such a loan, which would be a risky but wise investment.

Anti-Spending Clamor Hits Administration

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Eisenhower administration is trying to stamp out the notion that "modern Republicanism" and a big budget are the same thing.

This reaction indicates that the administration is being stung by critics who view President Eisenhower as a high spending New Dealer because of his peacetime record budget of $71.8 billion for the coming fiscal year.

Mr. Lahr

At his news conference last week, Mr. Eisenhower said his "new Republicanism" had "nothing whatsoever to do with big budgets" but rather sought the greatest possible economy. In a New York speech last weekend, an old conservative, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, said modern Republicanism is just what it used to be only dressed in up-to-date fashion.

More on this subject was heard in a speech here Thursday by Arthur Larson, director of the U.S. Information Agency, who is recognized as one of the most articulate philosophers of the new Republicanism.

Denounces Comparison

Larson took a dim view of the "rather superficial inclination on the part of some people to equate modern Republicanism with the 1958 budget." He acknowledged that protests against the budget are jamming congressional mail boxes but said there were "many fallacies" in identifying the President's budget with 'modern Republicanism."

The same type of Republicanism, he asserted, has prevailed for four years while government spending was being cut back. He admitted some of the current budget's features, like federal aid for schools, might inflate the budget. But he noted that defense costs, veterans' benefits and similar costs accounted for most of the total.

In the face of Democratic clamor for the administration to tell where the budget might be cut, the administration gave Congress a taste Thursday of what to expect. Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole announced his agency's budget request was being trimmed by $200 million. Apparently only part of this would have been spent in the next fiscal year anyway. Cole said his proposal was the first of a series from the administration to hold down spending.

Other Chopping Areas

Recommendations still to come may call for putting off reclamation projects here, flood control works there, and less drought relief some place else. Congress may or may not willingly accept suggestions for cutbacks that can offend local blocs of voters.

A substantial segment of the lawmakers wants at least first, to take a tuck in the administration's $4 4 billion foreign aid program, which Mr. Eisenhower has said is vital to national security.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) came back Thursday with his plan, passed three times by the Senate and killed three times by the House, to improve congressional machinery for handling the budget.

With 59 co-sponsors, he introduced a bill to set up a 14-member House-Senate committee on the budget. This committee would be given a professional staff and charged with the responsibility of collecting information for the congressional appropriations committees and recommending ways to achieve economy.

Quiz Wizards Part of A Miraculous Age

By MARGARET LATROBE

There are so many angles to the Charles Van Doren TV story a columnist could keep busy for weeks.

What next for this bright young man? And who said college professors never get rich?

Mrs. Latrobe

Thirty or 40 outright proposals of marriage have been received by Mr. Van Doren, along with many more subtle bids for friendship from members of the fairer but sometimes stupider sex Well, Mr. Clark Gable is getting into his fifties. Time the girls had a new target

Another angle is the good work done the cause of education at the hands of this charming professor. Youngsters adore him They beam upon Greek mythology and higher mathematics, confounding parents who had about given up such crazy dreams of scholarship for their young. Mothers of small tots, we hear, have wakened the sleeping babes to impress them with the sight of Mr Van Doren donning phones for the fast one. Balearic Islands? Prime ministers of Britain? Wee ones shouldn't miss the witching hour.

The tax angle is wild beyond imagination. However well deserved these fabulous winnings, Charles keeps only a fraction. Few quiz shows have got the word on distributing monies over a winner's lifetime; hence off it goes to Washington to await shipment abroad.

Most intriguing of all is the contrast between the two mental wizards, Van Doren and Teddy Nadler. The latter, on another show, has dumbfounded and defeated authorities in all but two fields of learning. Mr. Nadler completed only eight grades of school, cannot pronounce many of the names and places his mind records. Yet he read widely and forgot nothing. As he explains it, some have his kind of mind and some do not.

Nadler was apparently unable to apply his factual knowledge to his livelihood which until recently was manual labor requiring no skill. Van Doren, on the other hand, has quite another type mind; he learned and remembered for different reasons than did Mr. Nadler. Van Doren's life and work are of a piece with scholarship which a retentive brain kept bright and accessible.

These are strange and miraculous days we live in. Who knows the source of the next bonanza, the next fountain of good? I can't go along with gloompots' who find life dull and disheartening. Who knows how bright the morrow?

Damage by Field Fires

To the Editor:

Noticing the number of field fires that have occurred in our city, I would like to say a few words concerning same.

Seneca Hollow has always been a problem every time there is an abundance of rain, but still I have noticed several fires on both hills that meet to form the hollow. The vegetation growing there holds back a portion of the rain when it falls and prevents the flood damage from being greater. If fires continue in this section, we shall have erosion that will be similiar to Webster hill. Also the damage to wildlife in this area is great.

When the vegetation is burned, the humus is also destroyed, thereby eliminating the fertilizing effect of decaying vegetation A weed or green blade of grass looks pretty on a barren hill.

These fires are the work of vandals regardless if they are children or adults. If the fires are started by children, they should be corrected. If they are started by the sun reflecting on tin cans or glass there still is no excuse, for we have garbage collection and it has no right to be there.

Our fire departments are mostly made of civic minded individuals who may get tired of answering two calls in one evening due to someone's negligence. We may cry, "Wolf" once too often and that once could be your home. Suppose they were on a call for a field fire when your home broke into flames? The time required to notify them, and for them to get to your home could be disastrous for you.

Yours for a greener and prettier Monessen.

Lutheran Mission Study Concludes

The final study class for Lutheran women of the Monongahela valley was conducted on Friday evening at the Lynnwood Lutheran Church with nearly 100 in attendance. There was a representative group from the Faith Lippard Missionary Society of St. Paul Lutheran Church of Monessen present.

Other churches represented along with the local and host church were Grace Lutheran Church of Monongahela, Trinity of Donora, Christ Church of Charleroi and St. John of Charleroi.

Speak on College

The program was highlighted by guest speakers from Thiel College in Greenville. Scheduled as guest speaker was Mrs. Paul E. Daugherty, whose husband is on the staff at the school. She was unable to attend and was represented by Mrs. A. Kurtz, president of the Thiel College Woman's Club and Dr. Robert F. Cope, public relations director at Thiel.

Both of the guests spoke on the work of the Thiel College Woman's Club in supporting the college, which is sponsored by the Lutheran Church though it is interdenominational. It was stated that there are 22 chapters of the organization and meetings are held four times a year. However it was pointed out that the valley women could form either an active or inactive club and still support the school program in many ways.

The meeting began with a devotional program conducted by the women of Trinity Church, Donora.

The worship service was conducted by the women from the two participating Charleroi churches. Mrs. Meade Rugh, wife of the pastor of Christ Church, gave a talk on "The Woman of Ninivah" and wore a costume indicative of her subject.

Show Slides

Slides were shown by the women from the Lynnwood Church on the topic, "The Mission Churches". Work in the mission fields in this country was illustrated.

At the close of the program it was announced that the Rev. and Mrs. Rugh will be leaving Christ Church in Charleroi in June after being there for more than 25 years. Mr. Rugh is retiring and will assist his son, who was also recently ordained a Lutheran minister. Mrs. Rugh will be remembered with a gift from the valley groups.

Following the study hour the women were entertained in the church social rooms and refreshments were served.

The study class, which is an annual program for valley women, was very successful this year. It was directed by Mrs. Emily Maykovich, of Monessen, who acted as general chairman and Mrs. Ben Farquhar, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Joseph Patrick Kruczek

Sondra Louise Rogers Wed To Joseph Patrick Kruczek

Solemnized at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses in Monessen was the marriage of Sondra Louise Rogers and Joseph Patrick Kruczek. Their wedding was an event of Saturday, March 9, and the lines of the service were read by Robert Castiaux at one o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers, of 617 Crest avenue, Charleroi, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kruczek, of Charleroi R. D.

Pink and white flowers were used to decorate the hall.

Wears White

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore for her wedding attire a chapel length gown of white taffeta styled with a lace yoke with a round scalloped neckline and short puffed sleeves banded in white taffeta. It was styled with an empire waist line and full gored skirt. Her white lace tiara was a "Touch of Heaven" design accented with seed pearls and held her sheer shoulder length veil. She wore a single strand of pearls and matching earrings and carried a white bridal arrangement of fleur d' amour and satin shower streamers.

Serving as maid of honor was Linda Rogers, sister of the bride, who chose an ensemble of blue crystalette with matching headpiece and bouquet.

Best man was Adam Marilungo, of Uniontown.

Mrs. Edna Amorosi was at the piano for a prelude of nuptial music and the Lohengrin wedding march.

Mrs. Rogers selected a blue suit with a white rose corsage for her daughter's wedding and the mother of the bridegroom also wore a blue ensemble with a white rose corsage.

Hold Reception

A reception at the home of the bridegroom supplemented the ceremony and a tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table.

Later in the day the couple left to spend two weeks in Florida and when they return they will reside in their new home in Charleroi R. D. 2.

Both Mr. Kruczek and his bride were graduated from Charleroi High School, he in 1955 and she in 1956. She is employed in the offices of the Prudential Insurance Co. in Charleroi and he is employed by Culligan Soft Water in Monessen.

Big Six Products at Miami U.

Two Big Six products have drawn rave notices in spring football drills now underway at the University of Miami. Willie Vasiloff, who starred in the Brownsville backfield in 1949-50-51, looks like a sure-fire bet to win a starting guard spot with the Hurricane. He saw considerable duty last fall as a sophomore . . . Another potential regular is Maury Guttman, former Charleroi quarterback. He's been running with the regulars, filling in for the expected starter who sustained an early injury. Enthuses Coach Andy Gustafason about his sophomore hot-shot: "Guttman's an athlete. He's not the best passer in the world, but he can run that football. I'll guarantee you he'll make somebody nervous when he peels out on our run-pass option."

* * *

The Ozarks still hope to lure Hot-Rod Hundley to Monessen. At the moment, the fabulous Mountaineer star is barnstorming with his own team. That means there's little chance of getting him into this week's tournament. However the Ozarks would like to arrange a Monessen date for Hundley a little later on . . . The WPIAL Basketball Committee has assigned an "extra" official for semi-final and final games in the current tournament. The idea is to have a "spare" ready in case something happens to either of the two regulars . . . All of which recalls last year's Monessen-McKeesport semi-final contest. Neither official showed up for that game when somebody forgot to notify them of their assignments.

Elizabeth Pitcher with Pirates

Jackie Brown, the Elizabeth product, is making a strong bid to stick with the Pirates this season. He's looked good in early exhibition tests. Brown, who won nine varsity letters in high school, has fanned 698 batters in 670 innings of professional ball over a four year period. His big defect so far has been lack of control. Once he masters his control, he should have no trouble in the big-time . . . Andrew Sukel, Donora superintendent who has assisted in promoting 17 WPIAL Basketball tournaments, claims the current show is the most exciting he's ever seen . . . Perryopolis football coach Don Mains has asked Charles Slick, of Brownsville, and Lou Rozzi, of German, to assist him in directing the Fayette All-Stars in the annual game next August with the Washington County stars.

* * *

A reader asks when the WPIAL Basketball Committee will draw up sections for next season. Ordinarily the group gets busy right after the end of the PIAA tournament. However the result of their work is never made public until early in May . . . The coals are in the fire for another fine bowling establishment in the Monessen district . . . Monessen High baseball coach John Hayduk isn't the least bit disturbed by the fact that his team isn't supposed to go too far in the current race. "I understand we'll be starting from scratch this season," reports Hayduk. "That's alright with me. It will give us time to build with an eye toward the future."

MHS Undergrads Stick Together

Monessen High undergraduates will stick together for the upcoming Ozark Basketball Tournament. Appropriately enough, they will be sponsored by the Greyhound Bus Terminal . . . Strictly speaking, no high school teams may enter tournaments, other than those approved by the PIAA. However there's nothing to stop the boys from organizing teams of their own after the regular season is over. However they may not be directed by scholastic coaches . . . By the way, the Monessen boys will be piloted by Roy DeRocco, one of the city's finest sports boosters. Roy is one of the prize fans who doesn't believe in criticizing everytime something goes wrong.

Ozarks Tourney Begins Tomorrow

Quarter Finals Set Tonight in NIT Cage Action

By UNITED PRESS

NEW YORK (UP)— Memphis State and St. Bonaventure, both authors of upsets in the first round, will try to add another chapter to their success stories tonight to open the quarter-final round of the National Invitation Tournament.

Both are underdogs again—Memphis State (22-5) to "home team" Manhattan (15-8) and St. Bonaventure (16-5) against top-seeded Seattle (22-2).

The Bonnies face the big problem in Seattle's Elgin Baylor, the most highly-touted player in the tournament. The 6-foot-6 Baylor has been called by Coach Bob Feerick of Santa Clara "the best college player in the country."

The Bonnies will be out to make hustle a substitute for size, as they did in Saturday's 90-72 upset of Cincinnati when 6-foot-9 Connie Dierking was their chief problem. Cincinnati had the Upstate New Yorkers down by as much as eight points early, but a 15-point string in the closing minutes of the first half put the Bonnies in charge.

Opening Triumphs

Jack Butcher's last-minute points carried Memphis State to its opening 77-75 triumph over Utah after the Tennessee boys ran into "foul" weather and lost high-scoring Wil Wolfong on personals.

The quarter-final round will conclude Tuesday night when second-seeded Bradley meets Xavier of Ohio, and Temple plays Dayton. Bradley and Temple, like Seattle and Manhattan, had first-round byes.

Xavier sprang the third upset of the opening round when it blew a 10-point lead and then rallied to beat Seton Hall, 85-79. Dayton, runner-up in this tournament four times but never the champion, advanced as expected with a 79-71 win over St. Peter's of Jersey City, N.J., on a second-half surge led by Don Lane and Al Sicking.

Records Falling In NBA Post Season Games

By UNITED PRESS

The National Basketball Association has staged only two of its 1957 playoff games, but it already has seven new post-season records.

The Minneapolis Lakers opened the Western Division playoffs Sunday with a 131-127 victory over the Fort Wayne Pistons.

When the firing ceased at Minneapolis, the Lakers had set single-game playoff marks for most field goals, 53; most first-quarter points, 41; most first-half points, 70; and most points for three quarters, 107. The game also produced two-team playoff game records of most first-half points, 139; most points for three quarters, 204; and most points for a game, 258. The combined point-total of 73 points for the first quarter tied a playoff standard.

Clyde Lovellette led the winners with 30 points and George Yardley led the Pistons with 34. But Charley Menzel, who scored only five, clinched the Minneapolis victory with a lay-up in the final seconds.

The first round of the Eastern Division playoffs began Saturday night with the Syracuse Nationals scoring a 103-96 victory over the Warriors at Philadelphia. The second of this three-game set will be played tonight at Syracuse.

Kansas Favored in NCAA Cage Showdown

By NORMAN MILLER

Former champ Kansas, with two impressive victories already and a "home court" edge in the showdown games coming up, was rapidly gaining backing today as the "hot" team of the NCAA basketball tournament as it awaited the arrival of the three regional winners.

The Jayhawks, titlists in 1952, will meet defending champion San Francisco for the western NCAA crown Friday night when North Carolina, the nation's No. 1 team which set a new record of 30 straight victories, plays Michigan State for the eastern crown.

Final This Saturday

Both games, and Saturday's national finale, will be played at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium — where Kansas is considered the "home team" and where four of the five Jayhawk starters have played since high-school days.

But, more than that, Kansas has so far been more impressive than record-breaking North Carolina, which seems to play only well enough to win each time. Wilt Chamberlain and Co. added an 81-61 rout of Oklahoma City on Saturday night to a 73-65 overtime win over fourth-ranked SMU the night before. North Carolina, a 67-58 winner over Syracuse Saturday, has yet to "leave an opponent for dead."

San Francisco, which gets its shot at Kansas by virtue of a 66-51 win over California in the Corvallis, Ore., regionals, is shooting for a record third straight NCAA championship and conceding nothing to anybody.

Must Stop Wilt

Two free throws apiece by Al Dunbar and Mike Farmer in the last two minutes carried the Dons to their big win over California. Farmer, six-seven undoubtedly will be asked to carry the main load of "stopping Chamberlain" Friday night.

Chamberlain had 30 points and 15 rebounds against Oklahoma City; a total of 66 points in two games.

Coach Forddy Anderson of Michigan State believes his "wonderfully unpredictable" Big Ten champs have a good chance to beat North Carolina because "I feel we are just as good as the next team." Jack Quiggle's 22 points for the Spartans against Kentucky included two three-point plays in the last two minutes to cement the decision. State's hard-driving style is figured either to break up North Carolina's defense or to draw many fouls.

Patty Berg Wins Women's Crown

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Durable Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., admitted today it took a little liniment for her sturdy legs plus some St. Patrick's Day luck to win her seventh Women's Titleholders golf crown.

The veteran campaigner came through with a sparkling 69 Sunday to wind up the 18th annual 72-hole Titleholders with a total of 296, three strokes ahead of up-and-coming amateur Anne Quast of Seattle, Wash., who had a 74—299.

"Begorra, me name's Patrick Berg," Patty grinned after the last hole. She said she's half-Irish and she wore a jaunty green shamrock pinned to her cap.

Will Televise Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — The Masters golf tournament at Augusta Country Club will be televised by CBS, April 5-6-7, beginning at 5 p.m. EST daily.

Today's Sports Parade —

Berrios, Costa Begin Elimination Tourney

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—While Sandy Saddler hopes from behind a pair of dark glasses today that he will be able eventually to make a comeback, the race gets underway this week to select his successor as featherweight champion of the world.

This is the first of three bouts, with Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico facing Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden on Friday night, through which the new king will be crowned. Berrios is the 6 to 5 choice.

After that the winner faces Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria with that winner meeting Cherif Hamia of France for the title.

A Recurring Situation

This is the fifth time since 1901 that the featherweight crown has been up for grabs. Usually, when the 126-pound champion stepped down it was because of weight. Not this time.

Saddler maintains he suffered a detached retina in his right eye in a taxicab accident last July. On January 15 he was stripped of his crown by the National Boxing Association and last month, after announcing his retirement, he underwent an eye operation.

Sandy still hopes to make a comeback but it will be "six or eight months" before he knows whether the eye will take the pounding of the prize ring. Meanwhile, the action marches on.

Usually it took quite some time to crown a new champion when one of the former featherweight kings abdicated.

Bat Battolino threw up his hands in 1932 and it was five years before Henry Armstrong gained international recognition by beating Petey Sarron.

In 1938, when Armstrong moved up in class, A parade of claimants started. There were New York champions, NBA champions and foreign champions as the title was claimed here and there.

Pep Takes Over

Willie Pep, the Connecticut dancing master, straightened it out finally on a world-wide basis by waltzing through Chalky Wright, Phil Terranova and Sal Bartolo

This time there is going to be no such scramble and international indecision. The four best little men in the world are lined up to shoot it out. Berrios and Costa start the ball rolling Friday night and, although less experienced, the 24-year-old Berrios is the choice.

He has won 20 out of 27, with three knockouts. The 22-year-old Costa has won 30 of 40, with three knockouts. It is doubtful if either will go all the way, Hamia being the favorite to come out on top. After that, the question will be whether Saddler can come back.

List Ways You May Help in Wildlife Week

Nine "courses of action" for conservation-minded citizens were listed today by Seth L. Myers, state chairman for National Wildlife Week, which will be observed throughout the nation March 17-23.

The theme this year is "Homes for Wildlife," stressing the habitat needs of wild species and the fact that unless Americans act to provide places for wild animals to feed, find safety and rear their young, this nation will lose a valuable natural resource.

Myers pointed out that all citizens may help to "make a place for wildlife." He listed these nine activities:

1. Start educational projects on wildlife needs and the things that destroy habitat, such as soil erosion, water pollution, over-grazing, drainage of wetlands, and forest fires. Work through schools, civic clubs, youth groups.

Support Research

2. Encourage and support scientific research on wildlife and its living areas. Work through colleges and universities, your State game and fish department, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

3. Demonstrate land-use and water-management methods that protect, or even improve, wildlife habitat. This one is for farmers, ranchers, engineers, loggers, industrialists and others who change the face of the land.

4. Encourage sportsmen, garden clubs and other citizen groups to carry out habitat improvement projects in the field. Or pitch in and help with such projects. Seek the guidance of state or federal wildlife experts.

5. Get behind the programs of state and federal conservation agencies. Work toward public purchase and management of vital areas such as waterfowl marshes.

Demand Protection

6. Insist that fish and wildlife resources are protected and planned for at federal reservoirs and other water development projects. Stop wasteful drainage of valuable marshes. You can get at these problems through your Congressman.

7. Use your citizenship and your vote if necessary, to protect our state, federal and private sanctuaries, refuges, parks, forests and wilderness areas from encroachment and destruction.

8. Support sound water-pollution control laws. Work for adequate sewage-treatment by every city or for control of industrial wastes.

9. Join a conservation club and support the efforts of state and national conservation organizations.

Six Junior Class Games Will Tip Off Floor Show

Six junior division games will tip off the sixth annual Monessen Ozarks Basketball Tournament tomorrow at the MHS gym.

In all, 15 teams have entered the junior class and five the senior bracket.

There is a possibility that several other teams will join the senior class today. If not, the division will be played on a double-elimination basis.

Here is the lineup for tomorrow's junior class games:

6:30 — Monessen Ozarks vs. Donora Lumber.

7:20 — Monessen Greyhound Bus vs. Connellsville Boosters.

8:30 — Monessen Links vs. Greensburg Leones.

9:10 — West Virginia Mounties vs. Connellsville All-Stars.

9:50 — Brownsville Peppers vs. Belle Vernon.

10:40 — Monessen Fuocos vs. Elizabeth.

All of those junior teams appear to be loaded.

Good Game

One of the best games will pair the Monessen Links against the Greensburg Leones.

The Links will be coached by Monessen police lieutenant Algie Link. He has lined up a team which includes boys like James (Beane) Gordon, Carl Crawley, Dave Russell, etc.

The Greensburg Leones are piloted by St. Vincent College star Bernie Peterson. The roster is made up of Greensburg High players.

Monessen Greyhound Bus will be next year's Monessen High club, while Connellsville is a mixture of Connellsville and Uniontown High players.

Another good-looking team is Belle Vernon, comprised of Bellmar grads and undergrads. They will meet a tough Brownsville quint in their opener. The up-river club has loaded up with Redstone and California products.

Out-of-State Team

A team from Blacksville, West Virginia, will compete under the title of West Virginia Mounties.

Three junior class teams will not see action until later in the tourney. They included the defending champion Monessen Tracys, Coaches.

The Tracys have added several members of the Charleroi High quint to their roster.

The five senior division teams are all quality outfits: Donora, Washington, Monessen Cro-Ams, New Brighton, and the Monessen Ozarks.

The Washington club will include the senior members of the Pitt quint.

A complete tournament schedule will be worked out today.

Move Up Date of Sportsmen Meeting

The April meeting of the Westmoreland County Sportsmen League has been moved up to this Friday.

Edison E. Rice, president of the league, said that important matters will be discussed. He urged all delegates to attend the session.

McGuire Accepts Coaching Award

NEW YORK (UP) — Coach Frank McGuire whose North Carolina Tar Heels set an all-time college record of 30 straight victories in a single season, Sunday night accepted the United Press trophy symbolic of the 1956-57 national basketball championship.

The trophy, voted to North Carolina by the United Press Board of Coaches, was displayed on a nationwide television program (Ed Sullivan-CBS).

Pirates Defeat Athletics, 2-1

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP) —The Pittsburgh Pirates play the Kansas City Athletics today in the rubber game of their Grapefruit League series.

The Pirates dropped the first game of the three-game series but evened the count with a 2-1 victory at Fort Myers Sunday. The Pirates won their seventh exhibition game in nine starts and featured a spectacular defense.

Gene Freese, playing left field for the first time, robbed three batters of hits and Paul Smith also turned in several fine catches.

Both Pirate runs came on sacrifice flies, one by Johnny Powers and the other by Roman Mejias. Hal Smith drove in the lone Kansas City run.

Summer Tan Taken from Race

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UP) — Summer Tan, the thoroughbred who carries Mrs. John W. Galbreath's racing colors, has been withdrawn from next Saturday's Gulfstream Park Handicap because Trainer Sherrill Ward believes the horse is not in condition to make his best showing.

Cougars Bow, 41 to 37, In Semi-Final Test At Field House Saturday

Charleroi High's "unlucky" basketballers will attend Wednesday's WPIAL championship game as spectators.

The Cougars, Section 5 kings, bowed out of the tourney on Saturday, dropping a 41-37 decision to unbeaten Sharon before 4,700 fans at the Pitt Field House.

As a result, the Bengals — not Charleroi — will meet McKeesport in the title clash.

Charleroi came close to upsetting the favored Sharon five. Trailing by just two points, the Cougars missed three relatively easy shots under the basket in the closing seconds.

Those muffs provided a fitting conclusion to a game which was marked by a long series of errors on the part of both teams.

Obviously Keyed

Neither Charleroi nor Sharon played like semi-final contestants. Both teams were obviously keyed high and they rattled visibly under tourney pressures.

The usually sharp-shooting Cougars made only 24 per cent of their field goal attempts, while the winning Bengals weren't much better, hitting on just 29 per cent of their tries.

The first half of the game was all Sharon, even though the Bengals carried a mere five point lead to the dressing room at 22-17.

Time and again, the Bengals rambled down the floor unmolested on fast-breaks. Fortunately for the Charleroians, the fancy Sharon boys missed more than their share of easy attempts.

The Bengals also hurt themselves with some tricky passing, which the Cougars either intercepted on which simply went astray.

Payne Sparkles

In the second half, the plugging Charleroians came back, thanks mostly to Ollie Payne.

The 6-4 Payne suddenly started to drive, a maneuver which made him famous during regular season play, but one which he has rarely attempted in tourney competition.

Behind Payne, the Cougars rallied to eventually tie the score with six minutes and 36 seconds remaining. George Schoener tossed in the tying goal to make the score 28-28.

For the next minute and a half, both teams refused to accept the lead. Bob Boda missed a foul try for the Cougars and Pete Culp did the same for Sharon. Boda missed another charity throw.

Then with 5:01 remaining, Mike Matta canned two free throws for Sharon and the Bengals were never again behind.

Pete Fridley, 6-4 Bengal center who missed a good part of the game because of four personal fouls, contributed two more fouls and Mike DuMars, clever 5-10 playmaker, added a fielder to give the Bengals a six point spread.

Boda Drives

Boda drove back with a fielder but DuMars hit on two more fouls. Then Payne connected twice to pull Charleroi close. DuMars made a foul, but Chacko hit for two free throws with just 54 seconds to play to make the score, 37-36.

Matta made two free ones for Sharon, while Witmyer connected on a charity throw to keep Charleroi hopes alive.

With 15 seconds to go, and trailing by just a basket, Payne missed a layup and Myron Pottios barely muffed on two tap-in tries.

With eight seconds to go, Chacko stole the ball and passed to Payne who had an easy layup. However Chacko stepped out of bounds before he could get the pass away.

At the final buzzer, Fridley connected to give the Bengals a four point spread at the end.

Payne led the Charleroians with 19 points. Chacko chipped in with ten. He made four fielders in the second period to avert an early Bengal rout.

For the victors, Matta and DuMars shared scoring honors with ten points each.

Bengals to Take on Tigers Wed.

By UNITED PRESS

Four undefeated teams clash at the Pitt Field House Tuesday and Wednesday nights in championship games of the WPIAL basketball tournament.

Tuesday night, Wampum of Section 20, with 26 consecutive victories, meets Shannock Valley of Section 21, with 23 straight triumphs, for the Class B championship, won last year by East Pittsburgh.

The following night McKeesport of Section 6 and Sharon of Section 3, both with 24-0 records, play for the Class A title, held last year by Farrell, which went on to win the PIAA championship.

Wampum and McKeesport went all the way in the state tournaments in 1955.

Sharon just about got in the championship round, edging Charleroi in a semi-final at the Field House Saturday night, 41-37. More than 4,700, largest turnout of the tournament, saw the game.

The game was tied only twice, at 2-2 in the first period and at 28-28 early in the fourth period. Sharon's Mark DuMars broke the deadlock with two foul shots and the Bengals sped to a 36-30 advantage with less than three minutes to play.

Ollie Payne, Charleroi center, led the game's scoring with 19 points. DuMars and Mark Matta paced Sharon with 10 points each.

Brickner Stages Swim Exhibition

Gus Brickner, who hopes to swim the English Channel this year, attracted a large crowd at Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday.

Brickner staged a swim exhibition at the Ohio Valley Yacht Club. It was another in a series of shows by Brickner to stir enthusiasm for the Channel try.

Backers of Brickner have opened an account in the First National Bank of Charleroi. All contributions should be mailed there. In the event Gus is unable to make the Channel attempt, the money will be returned.

Yesterday's swim was filmed and will be telecast over news programs on KDKA-TV tonight, according to Brickner.

Tennessee A-I Wins Title in NAIA Tourney

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Tennessee A&I of Nashville, the first all-Negro team to ever win a major basketball tournament, today appeared to be in a position to win a few more.

The Tennesseans won the 19th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament championship over Southeastern Oklahoma State, 92-73, Saturday night, with a team made up of one freshman, six sophomores, two juniors—and only one senior.

Star of the tall and speedy Tenneseans was 6-3 sophomore Richard Barnett, who was leading rebounder with 71 grabs and second in scoring with 132 points for the four tournament games.

Barnett had only 16 points in the final game, but it was his running jump shot with nine seconds left in a semi-final that preserved A&I's life in a 71-70 victory over top-seeded Pacific Lutheran.

While the Tennesseans took the championship, top individual honors went to Jim Spivey, a 6-5 senior for Southeastern Oklahoma who was leading scorer with 212 points, a tournament record, and second in rebounding with 66.

Penn State Snaps Pitt's Monopoly On Wrestling

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—Penn State has broken Pittsburgh's three-year monopoly of the team championship of the annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association tournament.

The Nittany Lion grapplers piled up 74 points and placed three individual titlists in the 53rd renewal of the tournament which ended Saturday night. Pitt finished second in the 18-team field with 61 points, and its national collegiate 123-pound champion, Ed Peery, won the "most valuable wrestler" award.

Peery, who defeated Penn State's Sid Nodland, also won the Fletcher Memorial Trophy, given each year to the athlete who compiles the most points during the tourney. Peery finished with 33 points to Nodland's 32.

Penn State's title winners were Johnny Johnstown, 130, Johnny Pepe, 137, and Dave Adams, 147.

Nodland and Lehigh's Joe Gratto were the only 1956 champions dethroned. Gratto lost to Pepe.

Other title winners were Dave Johnson, Pitt, 167; Ed Hamer, Lehigh, 157; Ron Flemming, Franklin and Marshall, 177, and Ron Schirf, Pitt, heavyweight.

BOSTON (UP)—The Boston Celtics, with Tommy Heinsohn scoring 25 points, scored an easy, 121-73 victory over a squad of New England college basketball stars Sunday at Boston Garden.

Shantz, Zimmer and Erskine Look Good

By EARL WRIGHT

Bobby Shantz, Don Zimmer and Carl Erskine, three scrappy little baseball players who don't include "quit" in their vocabularies, posted sparkling performances today in their drives to make good in 1957.

The 138-pound Shantz refuses to admit he can't hit the top again although arm trouble has shackled him since he won the American League's "most valuable player" award by compiling a 24-7 record in 1952. And he may be right.

The little left-hander produced bad news for New York's 1957 rivals Sunday when he held the hard-hitting Cincinnati Redlegs runless while giving them six hits in five innings. Mickey Mantle's two homers plus a homer, triple, double and single by Andy Carey, helped the Yanks win, 9-0.

Zimmer Nearly Beaned

Zimmer, the Brooklyn Dodger infielder who is battling for a regular job, had to flop to avoid a wild inside pitch by Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers Sunday. On the next pitch, Zimmer hit a three-run homer that gave Brooklyn a 3-2 victory.

Sounds just what you'd expect a major leaguers to do, doesn't it?

But Zimmer has three times been injured seriously by pitched balls. His playing career almost was ended in 1953 when his skull was fractured by a pitch.

Like Shantz, Erskine has been hampered by arm trouble for the past couple of years but he keeps working at his job and gave himself and the Dodgers someting to smile about Sunday by shutting out Detroit while pitching the first three innings.

Freese Saves Day

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their seventh victory in nine exhibitions by defeating the Athletics, 2-1. Gene Freese, an infielder, played the outfield for the first time and robbed three Kansas City batters of hits with outstanding catches.

The Chicago White Sox hammered Vinegar Bend Mizell in the first four innings and Jim Davis in the last two to round out a 12-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Hearn, Jack Sanford and Gene Snyder gave only five hits while pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox and homers by Jim Lemon and Jerry Schoonmaker helped the Washington Senators defeat the Milwaukee Braves, 5-3.

A pinch-hit double by Gail Harris with the bases filled gave the New York Giants a 9-6 triumph over the Cleveland Indians and the Baltimore Orioles collected 15 hits while whipping the Chicago Cubs, 11-5.

Kadis 'Tag Day' Nets $200 Here

A "tag day" for the Kadis Fund netted $200 in Monessen on Saturday.

The money will be turned over to Pittsburgh telecaster Carl Ide.

In charge of the Monessen drive was the Greek Ladies Aid Society. A spokesman for that group today thanked all contributors and persons who assisted in the effort.

The money will be used to help pay the medical bill of Richard Kadis, Geneva College football star who was injured last season.

Moore Expected To Sign Today

NEW YORK (UP) — Manager Charley Johnston expects light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore to sign for a June defense today—the deadline.

"It's practically certain he will sign today," said Johnston.

The proposed title fight would be at the Detroit Olympia, June 7, against the winner of a contender's battle between Chuck Spieser and Tony Anthony at the same arena, April 5. Spieser of Detroit is the number one contender; Anthony of New York, number three.

Today was the deadline set for Moore's signing by the National Boxing Assn. and the New York State Athletic Commission.

Dodgers Figure to Win Pennant Again

By LEO H. PETERSEN

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers appear to have what it takes to win the National League pennant for the third successive year, a feat that hasn't been accomplished since the St. Louis Cardinals turned the trick 13 years ago.

Despite an assortment of question marks and a parcel of players who may be past their peak, the Dodgers have enough promising youngsters to take up any slack that may develop.

The biggest questions are:

Has catcher Roy Campanella recovered from the hand injury so he will be able to return to the form which won him the league's Most Valuable Player Award in 1955?

Will southpaw Johnny Podres, star of Brooklyn's 1955 World series triumph, be able to pitch regularly despite the back injury which caused his discharge from the service?

Will Don Newcombe, the 27-game winner of last season but a World Series bust, be bothered by the sore elbow upon which he blamed his poor series performances?

Has southpaw Karl Spooner finally recovered from his arm injury?

Will old age catch up with Sal Maglie, Peewee Reese, Carl Furillo and Campanellau

Alston Voices Hope

Manager Walt Alston is optimistic on all points. He contends that the Dodgers are stronger this year than last, when they went down to the final day of the season before winning the pennant as the Braves stumbled in their final series of the year against the Cardinals.

He plans on using Newcombe, Podres, Roger Craig, sophomore Don Drysdale as his regular starters with Maglie also getting a regular turn during the cooler weather.

For spot assignments there will be the veteran carl Erskine, rookie Fred Kipp, a 20-game winner with Montreal; and southpaw Sandy Koufax, who finally has come up with a change of pace.

Also if Spooner, who broke in sensationally late in 1954 only to come up with a sore arm, is recovered, he could become a starter.

Alston maintains that in Clem Labine, Don Bessent and Ed Roebuck he has the best bullpen in baseball.

Infield Still Uncertain

Only one infield spot is set—big Gil Hodges at first base. Reese, who is 37, probably will start the season at short with Randy Jackson at third and Charley Neal at second. That alignment would free Junior Gilliam for the left field job. If Neal falters, Gilliam will take over second base.

Duke Snider, the league's home run champion, will be in centerfield with the 35-year-old Furillo in right. If Gilliam is needed at second, the veteran Sandy Amoros or rookie Don Demeter, a .287 hitter with Fort Worth last season, may share the left field spot.

The 37-year-old Campanella will be the No. 1 catcher if he is only a shadow of his former self, with the veteran Rube Walker the No. 2 man.

German Boxer After 13th in Row

NEW YORK (UP)—Stefan Redl, unbeaten young German welterweight, seeks his 13th straight victory tonight in a 10-rounder with Al (Rocky) Milone at St. Nicholas Arena.

It will be televised by DuMont at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Because of his punch, Redl is favored at 11-5 to lick the slambang club-fighter from Coney Island, N. Y. Each is 23 and an eager beaver.

Furman Hires Backfield Coach

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UP)—Bill Crutchfield, the head football coach at Presbyterian College the last three years, has been hired as backfield coach at Furman University. Crutchfield, a native of Orangeburg, S.C., and graduate of North Carolina University, will join the staff on July 1.

Shrine Game Nets $251,000

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The Shrine East-West football game, played here on Dec. 29, 1956, netted $251,008.28 for the San Francisco Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, making it the first time in the 32 year history of the game the take has topped a quarter of a million dollars.

Senators Ponder Chisox Offer

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)— Owner Calvin Griffith and Manager Charley Dressen of the Washington Senators huddled today on whether to accept the Chicago White Sox' offer of five players for first baseman Roy Sievers and catcher Clint (Scrap Iron) Courtney.

2 Card of Thanks

VENNERI — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Nick Venneri. The ministrations of the Rev. Nunzio Pirulli, the Rev. Leonard Sanesi, the Rev. Martin J. O'Toole, the services of the Knights of Columbus, the Rosary Altar Society, the Christian Mothers, the Young Ladies Sodality and the Sisters of the St. Cajetan Church, the Italo-American Workingmen's Educational Association, the Italian Beneficial Society of Belle Vernon, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers; as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.

The Venneri, Molinatto, Salvino and Cosner families

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Richard D. Pender, who died 15 years ago today, March 18, 1942.
We live today with memories
Of days when you were here.
We miss you still and always will
Throughout each day and year.
At night when all is silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes
Our thoughts are in that lonely grave
Where our dear loved one lies
Sadly missed by the family

Labor Critical Of Proposed 'Civil Rights'

HARRISBURG (UP)—The leaders of Pennsylvania's top labor organizations today described as "arrogant and cruel" a package of Republican - sponsored bills spelling out "civil rights" for labor union members.

The legislation would require unions to file copies of their Constitutions and by-laws with the Labor Relations Board, submit annual financial statements, give financial records and Constitutions to union members and regulate union welfare and pension funds.

The statement, which said the proposals were "conceived in violent hostility against organized labor and duly elected officials," was signed by Joseph A. McDonough, president of the Pennsylvania federation of Labor; Harry Boyer, head of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Sludden, state legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Lester Thomas, legislative representative of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Like the 'mailed fist in the velvet glove' these four proposals individually and together on the one hand open the doors to the invasion of unions by the very racketeers and subversives against whom responsible leaders of organized labor have continuously waged an unrelenting struggle," they said. "This is basically and fundamentally a sly and cunning objective which has motivated the introduction of these four proposals."

A Real 'Sherlock'

LONDON (UP) — A singing souse persisted in following five men through side streets of London's East End Saturday night, but they decided to get on with their job and ignore him. When they smashed the window of a shop they intended to rob, they were arrested by the "drunk"—Tony Holmes, a Scotland Yard detective.

Actress Changes Hair Color; Is Big Success

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — As a blonde, Carolyn Jones was just another Hollywood beginner whose hair was more important than she was, but as a brunette she's destined for fame as a young Bette Davis.

Aline Mosby

When movie fans see Carolyn stride onto the screen as a man-hungry Greenwich Village neurotic in "The Bachelor Party" this year's "Marty", they may sense a new dramatic actress has arrived.

Carolyn, a part-Indian beauty from Amarillo, Tex., has the intense eyes and definite manner of Bette Davis. But before Carolyn dyed her hair black she was playing unnoticed "blonde villainesses."

"I shouldn't compete on the blonde level with Marilyn and Jayne," argues Carolyn. "I resent playing women who are just set decorations. I resent having my hair precede me into the room.

"I changed the color for 'The Bachelor Party' so people would notice me instead of my hair. Brunettes have a more lasting sex appeal. If you see a blonde you look for only a few minutes—it's a shock value that doesn't last."

Carolyn, whose great-great-great-aunt was a Comanche Indian, studied drama at the nearby Pasadena Playhouse. She won a brief contract at Paramount Studio and roles in "House of Wax" (She was Joan of Arc in wax), "The Tender Trap" and "The Opposite Sex" before striking it big in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster's "The Bachelor Party."

TV viewers also have seen her in such dramas as "Lux Video Theatre," "Wire Service" and "Panic." She appeared on "Schlitd Playhouse" last Friday.

Being compared to Ia Davis doesn't bother Carolyn, except she refuses to see Davis movies for fear "I'll pick up some of her physical gestures."

"Since I was a baby I've had these large eyeballs and I guess that's the resemblance," she smiled. "I would love to do the roles she's performed. Every role she plays is for an actress, not a personality."

Unlike the unhappy New York play girl she portrays in "The Bachelor Party," Carolyn lives happily in a new home with a swimming pool in the San Fernando Valley. But in some ways the girl in the black Julius Caesar hair-do reminds you of a young, big city intellectual type.

She says with intensity, "The problem is that people are afraid to reach out and touch each other. The girl in 'The Bachelor Party' felt loneliness and a need for human contact. . ."

Or, "If somebody catches me staring at them, I don't look away. I keep looking until I'm finished."

Hepatitis Patients Now Allowed More Activity

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

For years, many doctors have recommended complete bed rest for victims of virus hepatitis until all symptoms have disappeared. But now, there are some different thoughts along this line.

Many doctors feel that it is advisable to remain in bed only as long as acute symptoms persist. Once the patient feels well, he need remain in bed no longer than one hour after each meal, even if jaundice is still present.

Furthermore, as much physical activity as he likes is permitted

This change in attitude follows a recent U. S. Army study which showed that patients acutely ill with virus hepatitis improve as rapidly when allowed as much physical activity as they desire as do patients kept at strict bed rest.

I would like to emphasize, however, that the place for anyone with acute infectious heaptitis is in the hospital. He should be hospitalized as soon as the diagnosis is made and remain there until the doctor says he can leave.

Diet is another matter.

Generally this should include about 3,000 calories a day with approximately 150 gm of protein and a similar amount of fat. If the patient has little or no appetite, frequent small feedings probably are better than three regular big meals.

Tests have shown that patients with such diets got well much quicker than those who were permitted to eat just about anything they wanted.

Question and Answer

S. H.: I have had chills and sweating most of the winter What can I do to prevent such an attack next winter?

Answer: Chills and sweating come from a variety of causes. They may be due to a thyroid deficiency or to infections of various types. Change of life is another cause.

The watermelon is thought to have originated in a wild state in Africa.

Kind Role Helps To Solve Problem

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Paul Fix said Friday he had solved the problem of the roles he acted in the movies overlapping into his private life. He said that when he began to have marital troubles and his old friends became distant, he simply asked for and got a different part. Fix, who had played the villain in some 100 productions is the kind old man in "The Devil's Hairpin." He says that since he got the part, "my wife likes me better and I'm being invited all over."
